POST-GRADUATE PROFESSIONAL SANDPLAY TRAINING

January to July, 2009

This advanced training offers a comprehensive detailed study of Sandplay therapy.

Specific focus will be ensuring that you can work more deeply with your clients, as well as on specialized training in relationship, spirituality and mindfulness, understanding self-worth and meaningfulness.

We will show how to set up sandplays to resolve specific issues such as work-related dynamics, depression and relationship. One session will be devoted to techniques in Sandplay on how to unearth and resolve family issues and traumas from childhood. You will study how to improve your intuition and sense of energies.

Once Sandplay is seen as an active tool in the therapeutic process, entire new realms of therapy can be opened, being of great value to both the therapist and the client.

Students must have completed a course in Sandplay either at the Crucible Centre or equivalent training at another approved Sandplay training institution. You will become more confident.

Dr John James is well-known as a founder of the Crucible Centre where training courses in Transpersonal Psychology have been run for seventeen years.
