

PROFESSIONAL SANDPLAY TRAINING February to June, 2008

An advanced training in the professional use of Sandplay. It will be held over four three-day weekends. It has been approved by the Australian Counselling Association, and PD certificates will be issued at the end.

Sandplay is the most powerful and subtle tool we possess for understanding our clients. Its capacity for diagnosing complex issues is unsurpassed. Our work is client-centred, innovative and transforming.

The Crucible Centre has been teaching Sandplay since 1992. John James & Marg Garvan, with over 30 years' experience between them, have pioneered new and rewarding ways of using this modality.

We have developed specialised ways to work with couples, teenagers, carers and children. We creatively use sandplay to resolve very deep issues that affect the whole of life. These include the dynamics of family constellations, the games inherent in most relationships and issues that come from the ancient energies we call soul.

Sandplay goes to the heart of the issue. The clarity it brings to every issues, and immediate way in which it can transform situations, is the most important aspect for both therapist and client. One sees at once where one is and what one needs to do for change and fulfilment.

Dr John James is well-known as a founder of the Crucible Centre where training courses in Transpersonal Psychology have been run for sixteen years. He has a particular skill in delicate facilitation of symbolic and emotional content of the sandtray. His timing and intuition in supporting understanding between couples through subtle guidance enables them to enhance their relationships.

Marg Garvan is a widely recognised practitioner with her own private practice and is a director of the Crucible Centre. She has an extraordinary capacity to understand and communicate personal soul issues. She senses and works with the inner formations that we call the psychology of energy. Her work embodies the proper alignment between a life of soul and life in our society.

These workshops will be run at the Crucible Centre in Bilpin.

They are fully residential and costs include all home-cooked meals. Vegetarians are catered for.

The cost of these 12 days of Sandplay Training is $3,300 including GST. An early bird discount of 10% will apply if you pay in full by 15 December 2007. Bookings require a $500 deposit. Full fee must be paid for one month prior to commencement of the course.
